

— 2021 Speaker Series on Race & Counseling —

Mental Health in the African American Community

Dr. Chester L. Wilson, EdD, is an Associate Professor and Director of the Rehabilitation and Mental Health Counseling Program at Florida A & M University. He has published articles on mental health in the African American community and has presented at national and international conferences. He is also a frequent speaker at various events and has been featured in the media.

About Chester L. Wilson, EdD

Dr. Chester L. Wilson, EdD, is an Associate Professor and Director of the Rehabilitation and Mental Health Counseling Program at Florida A & M University. He has published articles on mental health in the African American community and has presented at national and international conferences. He is also a frequent speaker at various events and has been featured in the media.

Dr. Wilson has a Ph.D. in Counseling Psychology from Florida A & M University. He has worked in various capacities in the field of mental health counseling, including as a counselor, supervisor, and administrator. He is currently the Director of the Rehabilitation and Mental Health Counseling Program at Florida A & M University.

Dr. Wilson has a strong commitment to the African American community and is dedicated to providing quality mental health services to underserved populations. He has been instrumental in the development of several programs and initiatives aimed at addressing the mental health needs of African Americans.

Dr. Wilson is also a frequent speaker at various events and has been featured in the media. He has been interviewed by local, national, and international news outlets on various topics related to mental health in the African American community.

Dr. Wilson is a member of several professional organizations, including the American Psychological Association, the American Counseling Association, and the National Black Leadership Initiative Institute. He is also a member of the Florida Psychological Association and the Florida Counseling Association.

Dr. Wilson is currently the Director of the Rehabilitation and Mental Health Counseling Program at Florida A & M University. He is also an Adjunct Professor at Florida A & M University and Florida State University.

Dr. Wilson has a strong commitment to research and scholarship. He has published several articles on mental health in the African American community and has presented at national and international conferences. He is also a frequent speaker at various events and has been featured in the media.

Dr. Wilson is currently the Director of the Rehabilitation and Mental Health Counseling Program at Florida A & M University. He is also an Adjunct Professor at Florida A & M University and Florida State University.

February 24, 2021
12:00 PM